Instructions for Obtaining CE Credit

Thank you for registering for the Two in One Training Webinar!

This webinar will be accredited for CE credit by The George Washington University Office of Continuing Education in the Health Professions. CE Certificates will be provided to registered attendees based upon verification of attendance via SMS text message and the completion of the online session evaluation.

How does this work?

- A unique session code will be announced at the conclusion of the webinar.
- You will text the session code to (202) 902-9966 and receive a text message reply confirming your attendance has been recorded.
  Recommendation: Save the number 202) 902-9966 in your cell phone contacts list so that you can easily identify the number for future attendance texting.
- After texting the session code, you can access the session evaluation and claim CE credit via your pending activities log.

Please note: To claim CE credit for participating in the webinar, you must have an EthosCE learner account with a registered mobile number. We strongly recommend that you update your account and register your mobile number before the webinar.

If you would like to receive CE credit for attending the webinar, please follow the instructions below to create/update your EthosCE learner account and register your mobile number:
